Hongsong, JANUARY 27TH, 1873.

WE must confess ourselves completely puzzled to conceive what may be the state of eideration the letter which appears in to-day's affairs in connection with the Bishopric of paper, with reference to the extravagant expen-Hongkong. The announcement made by telegraph to the effect that the Rev. Mr. Russell had been appointed to the See of | placed in a clearer light than it is on the pre-North-China, followed some time after by the revocation of the Letters Patent appoint- | to it. ing the Bishop of Hongkong, seemed to indicate that the Bishopric of Hongkong was to be put an end to. According, however, to the London and China Express received by the last mail, it seems that the actual state of affairs is something between these two, and the Church Missionary Society have expressed their readiness to pay for the present the salary of an additional Bishop to China. The meaning of this appears to be that the Bishopric of Hongkong is to be continued after all, and that the permanency of the ap- | though not so numerous as in the last number, pointment to the North of China will depend disposed or not to pay the requisite stipend. "It is not proposed—say the Bishops in their declaration-by the Council, that the entire endowment of these Sees should be raised in England, but that the Christians in each country, and the merchants who derive shirtings:wealth from thence, should unite according their ability with the Colonial Bishoprics' Council, with the Church societies, and others in England, in providing the necessary the merchants in China. " than whom a more this generosity directed towards making due | mercantile honour and good faith." arrangements for the spiritual wants of the Government have received some intimation vessels. The start took place shortly after 9.90. with respect to the intentions of the Church the yachts being under lower canvas only. The Missionary Society; and the most probable first-round was sailed with a light N.E. breeze, explanation is that the Society have the idea Naomi, Naind, and Wave, the latter being about of asking the Colony to contribute a portion five minutes behind the leading boat. In the of the stipend should another Bishop be ap- second round goff-topsails and jib-topsails pointed. If this view of the matter is cor- ped farther astern, until after passing Green rect, the question will probably be brought Island, when she picked up a breeze from S.W. before the Council, and we trust it may and quickly drew up on the leading boats, thus be thoroughly discussed.

THE apprehensions felt in Singapore since the outbreak which some time ago took place, that another disturbance would occur, have turned out to be well founded, though fortunately more vigourous action than that previously adopted soon brought matters to a close. The fears which were entertained for the peace of the Settlements resulted, naturally, from the consciousness that in yielding to the demands of the mob in the first outbreak, the Government had done the very thing to encourage a more serious disturbance at a future date. This time, however, the Police, grown wise by past experience, did, not hesitate to take vigorous measures at once, put down. Had the same course been adopted are invaded. An active surveillance is being when the first outbreak occurred, there seems little doubt that it would have been equally successful, and that the Singaporeans would have been spared the infliction of a second rising, while the moral effect produced would have been infinitely stronger. There cannot possibly be a greater mistake than heritating in taking the necessary measures to put down a Chinese rising. Any vaciliation is certain to be attributed to fear; and the time afforded will in nine cases out of ten be availed of for further pushing on the riot; whereas prompt measures will nearly always nip the attempt in the bud, as the first idea which Chinese mob has in moving, is generally to ascertain whether any effective resistance will be offered to it. The fact that this second rising has taken place seems very clearly to indicate that there were grounds to look upon the first affair in a more serious light than it was regarded in by many after it had been apparently put down. The Chinese gentlemen who were consulted on the subject, HALL & HOLTz and Kelly stated very clearly what was the nature of the affair, and that, although some annoyance had been caused by the proclamation with reference to hawkers, there was every reason to believe that the main instigators of the outbreak were actuated by other motives, and in fact were very much more bent upon the chance of plunder than community. It is probable they were dis. first attempt, and not to be deprived of

The Straits Times hears on what it considers good authority, that Sir Harry-Ord's successor as Governor in the Straits is to be Mis Musgrave, formerly Licutenant-Governor of British Columbia, before its annexation Canada, and now at Natal.

The performance of the Portuguese Amateurs on Saturday evening at the Lusitano Theatre was very successful, and the house was fairly filled. The piece entitled "Feios e Bonitos was well performed, and the laughable comedy, Por Causa d'um par de Botas ? was very much appreciated by the audience, who awarded the quantities of rice laid out in the public streets, performers much well-merited applause.

During the proceedings of the Police Court | day before was fined by Mr. May $1 for the same in Saturday last, Mr. Mitchell, the presiding offence, yet he had not removed it, and would magistrate, received a note from the Surveyor-General, announcing that the newly repaired Court House was in perfect readiness, and that | doubtless to make the public streets a store, magistrates wished to take possession. Notice was accordingly given that the Court will be the Court by refusing to remove it after held to-day in the new building.

A vigorous alarm of fire was given at 6 p.m. last evening at the Central-police station, but turned out to be next to a false ularm, as the fire was put out in five minutes. It originated in West street, Taipingsbun. A quarter of an hour after the Police with Captain Deane had returned, the Hougkong Insurance bell rang, and in spite of information sent them that the fire was out long enough ago, they insisted on taking the engine to the scene. We have received a copy of the last " Hong-

SILVER TELEGRAPH CABLES.

Our " delicate spirit" Ariel is not idle. It is not content with girdling the earth for us, and delivering our errands at the Antipodes, "ore the leviathan can swim a league." Day by day the marvellous and tricksy sprite teaches new lessons of perfection, and the time will comeperhaps before our first submaring ocean telegraphs are worn out—when we shall look back upon them as clumsy, and drop a "nerve of news " as easily and as surely scross land and sea, as if we were electric spiders. There is a fresh Atlantic cable in course of manufacture for France, and a portion of it has already been ----troduced into this cuble in respect of insulation and protection for the shore ends, are said to be teachings of experience. Portions of the old Mediterranean rope, which has been upon the sea-floor for twelve years, have been carefully examined; and it is seen that, while some parts bave been completely encrusted with marine deposits, others have been eaten away to the core by corrosion or by submarine creatures of an unscientific and too curious turn. The engineers engaged have-learned useful facts from the study of these fragments, and ocean telegraphy is rapidly approaching the character of an exact science. Meantime, is the fact sufficiently remembered that silver is a far better conductor than copper? No electrician will deay our statement, and therefore, perhaps, we may some day see cords of silver binding the world together; for telegraphic intercourse has become a obviously be the cheapest.,

> THRILLING ACCOUNT BY A SURVIVOR steady for all kinds; large holders firm. OF THE "MISSOURI" DISASTER.

HAVANA. November 22nd. The Nassau Times unblishes the statement of Mr. Freary in regard, to the Missouri disaster, His account of the breaking out of the fire, and the ineffectual attempts to extinguish it, correspond with those of other survivors already published. It appears that when the Captain ordered the boats lowered, about thirty persons, including Freary, jumped into one, but owing to mismanagement of thedavits, one end fell while the other remained hanging in the air, and all except Freary and eight others fell into the sea. Some one on the ship cut the davits, and the boat fell into the water, and though it filled went free of the ship. Freary says, we saw the boat bottom upward, with two men clinging to the keel. We throw them a line, and talked with them, and wanted them to join us, but they considered their position better than ours and refused. One of our men joined the two, and one of the two swam over to us, being one of the saved. We met Mr. being in a sinking condition, but Colmer retold him his boat could hold more. Colmer threw boat. Colmer steered toward Abaco. We had i

At nightfall we pulled the boat toward the baucon and that some passing vessel might pick us up. We came within half a-mile of the Missouri about seven in the evening. The boat before the wind. On the second and third day we were still before the wind, suffering clothing, etc., but were unable to attract attention. The vessel boisted sail and steered away. On the fourth day one of our crew died. That night two others, having become crazy, jumped overboard. The boat was always full of water, ourselves sitting waist deep. On the fifth morning another man died. We were still befor the wind. That evening there was a calm. and we succeeded in bailing the boat with two hate, one of the crazy men having thrown the Hongkong Pier and Godown Company,-25 bucket overboard. From three life preservers we made a small sail, and raising it steered south, but our exhaustion wasso great we could do but little. On the sixth and seventh days our situation remained unchanged. On the 8th we sighted land, and succeeded in landing at Powell's Coy, near Abaco, in the evening. We had eaten or drank nothing since leaving the ship, and Inid down on the beach in a horrible condition. After a time of rest on shore we gathered strength to reach nome deserted houses, and found a spring of fresh water. We lay huddled together all night. On the ninth day we found a few tomatoes, which we boiled, having found matches and a pot in one of the houses. This gave us a little strength, and we launched the boat and tried! to reach the main land, but failing, returned to yea-cheung to a trader. Powell's Coy, stopping there.

Next morning we made a final effort to reach land, but were so exhausted that we were hardly able to stand. We then laid down near the boat in a dving condition.

> THE DEATH OF A MACEI CHIEF.—The New caland Herald records the death of a venerable Maori chief, named Ernera Patuone, who is stated to have been 103 years old. He was eight years old when Captain Cook's vessel arrived in New Zealand, he having gone on board with his people and received presents. A correspondent, who saw Patuone in 1840, states that he heard the old chief give an account of his visit to Captain Cook's ship, when he accurately described the dress worn by the celebrated navigator and that of his crew. Patuone was the son of a cannibal, and was a cannibal himself until he was, converted to Christianity by the Rev. Samuel Marsden, who is still affectionately remembered as the missionary of the Maoris; and he often did good service to British rule in the colony, being a faithful servant and a valiant warrior, though his voice was always given in favour of peace. Our correspondent concludes his brief account of him by stating that "his dark skin

A YEAR'S TAXATION.—In the financial year 1871-72 the revenue from Excise duties (after deducting drawbacks and repayments) amounted to £23,386,064; from stamps, £9,739,548; from taxes (land, house, and income-tax), £11,680,283, making the total inland revenue £44,805,895; but the deduction of the charges of collection—viz., £1,616,224—reduced the net inland revenue to £43.189.671. The Oustoms duties (after deducting drawbacks and repayments) amounted to £20,215,923; the charges of Great Eastern, which has found her "manifest toms revenue to £19,391,623. Ten-Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite fill the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub. COPIES TAKEN FROM PHOTOGRAPHS Steamer), when they will receive G. G.'s im-

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally.
